no instake, we submit the following statement of facts gleaned from the official records.

In the Supreme Court of this State in 1862, while Judge Lowrie was Chief Justice, the Court decided that the law of Pennsylvania allowing soldiers in active ervice, beyond the boundaries of the State, to vote, was unconstitutional, sulf and coid.—See 41st Pennsylvania State Reports, p 403.

In the contested election case, from Philadelphia, in 1862, Ewing vs. Filley, et. al., wherein the Quarter Secsions of Philadelphia, by throwing out the army vote, declared John Thompson elected Sheriff, and turning Robert Ewing—who was elected, with the army vote—out of said office, which ruling was sustained by the Supreme Court, Chief Justice Lowrie delivering the opinion himself.—See 43, Ps., State Reports, p 384.

In 1863gan the case of Kneedler, et al., vs. Lane et al., Chief Justice Lowrie delivering the opinion himself.—See 43, Ps., State Reports p 384.

In 1863gan the case of Kneedler, et al., vs. Lane et al., Chief Justice Lowrie delivering the opinion of the Supreme Court of this State, sustained by Justices Thompson and Woodward, declared the law of the United States, authorizing the draft, to be unconstitutional nuil and void, Justices Read and Strong dissenting. See 45, Pen's State Reports, p 238 incident to an extensive practice in our courts, these secret slanderers assert that Mr Douglass "has only a local practice and of no ability," but in the presence of the tax-payer, who might be influenced in his vote by the question of "oost," Mr Douglass' practice swells into wonderful proportions, and they attempt to frighten the voter by declaring that the whole of Douglass' Judicial term Will be taken up with "special Courts" to the "greet expense" of the people, in disposing of his old cases. And in this way each man's particular prejudice is appealed to by these assassins of reputation.

But need we follow them through the laby rinth of falsehood and vituperation? If years of toil, if successes achieved in spite of adverse circumstances, if a life of adverse circumstances and circumstances and circumstances and circumstances.

CITIZENS AND STRANGERS—I am a new comer in your midst, and desire to make your acquaintance. I therefore extend to you all a cordial invitation to call and your acquaintance. I therefore extend to you all a cordial invitation to call and examine my stock, which has been largely increased during the past week, and although not as perfect now in some particulars as it will be a few days hence, yet it will be found to omtain a very superior vasortiment, and will amply repay you for the will be found to omtain a very superior vasortiment, and will amply repay you for the trouble. My goods will be cheerfully exhibited at all times, and no one importuned to but them, and in this connection, I wish to particularly call the attention of those tabus to have been accustomed to send Bost for their fine Siks and Rea. Laces to my stock of this class of goods which although not as large as similar stocks in New York or Phil neighbur yet consists of a fine assortiment, ample to satisfy the taste of the most fasticious.
